Seven more 'exposure' arrests at Caspersen Beach Park

By GREG GILES

In light of last month's three arrests in the Venice area for flashing, it wasn't a surprise that Sarasota County Sheriff's deputies would take a closer look at Caspersen Beach, a known hot spot for the occasional nudist, but more frequently adult males who expose themselves on the nearby trails.

Arrests are published routinely, but that doesn't seem to stop those seeking "sex on the beach" from congregating in the area.

Detectives working in an undercover capacity at Caspersen Beach Park arrested seven men this week during a three-day operation.

In each incident, the men discussed having sex and exposed themselves to undercover detectives who were monitoring activity along the trails and near the waterway.

Arrested were: Daniel McAvoy, 61, 6900 block of Roslyn Court, North Port; Donald Myrberg, 63, 4800 block of Escalante Drive, North

Baptism by salt water

Fifty baptized in Gulf at gathering

Fifty people were baptized in the Gulf near the Venice Pier as more than 1,100 people attended a citywide worship celebration Sunday.

Pastor Tom Hodge of First Baptist Church of Venice spoke about the importance of baptism and living a life dedicated to Jesus Christ. Other pastors participated in the event, held at Brohard Park.

No elections, Venice. Incumbents win, 1-0

By GREG GILES
 News Editor

There won't be an election this November in Venice.

Mayor John Holic, Bob Daniels and Jeanette Gates, the pro-business City Council members elected in heated races three years ago who were running for re-election this year, had no opponents file to oppose them by the noon deadline Friday.

With no other county, state or national races, and council deferring a vote on a charter referendum until next year, there's no need for a city election.

By law, the city council incumbents are deemed to have voted for themselves, so they win automatically by a vote of 1-0.

"It was a close election. I will have to do better next time," joked Holic on Friday afternoon.

Moments later, he amended that statement.

"I will tell you, this is absolutely the last term," Holic said. "If there is anybody interested in the position, I would hope

Burglary suspect in custody after escape

By GREG GILES
 News Editor

A burglary suspect who escaped from custody while being treated at Venice Regional Medical Center Friday afternoon was re-arrested hours later.

Venice Police and Sarasota County sheriff's deputies set up a tight perimeter and eventually found 49-year-old Ricky Dinger inside an unlocked travel trailer outside a residence in the 500 block of Serata Street on the island.

"We had him hermed in pretty good," Venice Police Chief Tom McNulty said. "This was good team work with the county Sheriff's Office. A resident said their trailer is normally unlocked. Deputies converged, and there he was inside."

A Sarasota County Sheriff's Office helicopter and canines were dispatched.

Dinger was wearing a hospital gown and red socks.

He first complained of chest pains when he was arrested by Venice police on Tuesday for burglary, McNulty said.

Venice's Shores Bank purchased in $48.8 million deal

By ROGER BUTTON
 BUSINESS COLUMNIST

The most successful Venice community bank in Sarasota, Manatee and Charlotte counties with a top Baer Financial 5-star rating has merged with a major institution based on the East Coast in an approximately $48.8 million buyout, according to bank officials.

Stonegate Bank acquired Venice's Florida Shores Bank Southwest at 500 U.S. 41 Bypass North, as well as six other locations statewide, together with the holding company, Florida Shores Bancorp. Jim Kuhlman, president and CEO of Florida Shores Bank - Southwest, assured customers that the takeover would be beneficial to them.

"Although the name will change, me and my team are here with the core group of employees who have been with me since 1996," he said. "The people who meet and greet will remain the same."

Two main benefits will result from the successful merger of the two banking corporations, according to bank officials. Any employee job losses will be minimal as Stonegate has no offices in Southwest Florida.

"Secondly ... there will be almost $1.6 billion in assets," he said. "This will enable us to make a NASDAQ public offering in April 2014, assuming the merger is consummated by year-end."

Founded in 2007, the Venice bank had $600 million in assets in August of 2013. Following the opening of the Englewood office in 2010, a second branch office was opened in Sarasota last year and Kuhlman expressed his intentions at the time to open a third branch office in Bradenton this year.

Prominent South County businesspeople serving as board directors include William L. Bacon, furniture retailer; David M. Dignam, insurance agency owner; George D. Pickhardt, environmental service company owner; Thomas H. Taylor, Jr., investor and auto dealership owner; and James F. Kuhlman, president and CEO, Florida
